INDEX.

A

Adams, C. F., 161, 162 note.
Adams, John, 1; did not foresee the Revolution, 2; associated with Jefferson and Franklin, 4; denounced by Democrats as favoring titles, 143-144, 145; letter to Dr. Price, 152-153; estrangement from Jefferson, 153; publishes Discourses on Davila, 153-157, 159; on Paine's Rights of Man, 160; on Constitution of '89, 162-163; on Genet, 186; Discourses on Davila, 220, 223, 253; on execution of Louis XVI, 254, 259; on irreligiousness of the Revolution, 266; on doctrine of equality, 274.
Adams, John Quincy, description of Monroe's reception by Convention, 123; on French Revolution and American politics, 140; Essays of Publicola, 161-162, 220, 253, 297.
Adams, Samuel, 168, 236 note, 246-247, 271, 284.
Adet, 285-287, 295.
Alsop, 238, 239.
Ames, Fisher, 204, 236-237, 255, 259-260.
Arnold, J. L., 221.
August 10th, Morris on, 111, 112.

B

Bailly, 47.
Barlow, Joel, on French conditions in 1788, 20; on States-General, 37; in France, 79 note; on Constitution of '89, 163, 220, 222; goes to Europe, 224; pamphleteer, 224-225; The Conspiracy of Kings, 224; Advice to the Privileged Orders, 224, 226-227; Letter to the Convention, 227-234; made a citizen of France, 234; other writings, 234 note; later admiration of France, 234 note; on 20th June, 254 note.
Barlow, Mrs., 227.
Barrère, 126.
Bastille, 46, 71.
Baltimore, celebrations, 164; Democratic Society in, 195, 206, 207.
Biddle, Charles, 177, 208.
Billaud-Varennes, 126.
Bleecker, 221.
Bonaparte, 135, 288.
Boston, Civic Feast, 165-169; Democratic Society, 195; street names changed, 216.
Bourbons, American interest in, 142.
Brackenridge, H. H., 222, 246.
Bradford, Ebenezer, 272.
Bradford, William, Lament of Washington, 264.
Breck, description of session of Constituent Assembly, 78-79 note; on Worship of Reason in Philadelphia, 219 note.
Brienne, Jefferson on, 28-30, 33.
Brissot, 105, 107, 125.
Burke, 59, 98, 99, 100, 143 note, 152, 161, 220, 227, 273 note.

C

Ça ira, popular as nom de plume, 217; sung in American theaters, 246.
Cabot, George, 276.

Celebrations in honor of the Revolution, 164-188, 284.
Channing, William Ellery, 295-296 note.
Charleston, celebration, 171; leveling principles in, 175; Democratic Society, 195; connection with Jacobin Club of Paris, 195-196; resolutions of, 197-199; celebration of Revolution of 1830, 299.
Chateaubriand, 144 note.
Chittenden, Gov., 246.
Cincinnati, The, 184, 206, 221.
Clay, Henry, 67.
Clinton, Gov., 184.
Clootz, 224.
Cobbett, Wm., on Genet, 175; on Democratic Societies, 205; writings, 241-243.
Coleridge, 220.
Collot d'Herbois, 126.
Committee of Public Safety, Morris on, 118; delays Monroe's reception, 120; ruled by Robespierre, 124, 127, 284.
Commons, see Third Estate.
Condorcet, 153, 217.
Congress, Revolution mentioned in various debates, 140, 143-152, 279-282; presentation of flag of France, 284-285.
Constitution of 1789, discussed by Morris, 82-98; later condemned in France, 103; mentioned in Congress, 152; John Adams on, 155; attitude of Americans toward, 162-163; Barlow on defects in, 227 seq., 282.
Constitution of 1793, Monroe on, 130, 282.
Constitution of 1795, Monroe on, 131; comments in America, 282-283.
Convention, The, Morris on, 112-119; receives Monroe, 121-123.
Corday, Charlotte, 221.
Cristie, 206.

D

Dallas, 177, 208.
Danton, 124, 125, 129, 238.
Dauphin, The, death of, how received in America, 148.
Democratic Societies, 188-209; their rise, 188-189; the Pennsylvania Society, its organization and principles, 189-193; Declaration of Mass. Soc., 193-194; reasons for these clubs, 194-195; clubs elsewhere, 195; their certificates of membership, 195 note; their resolutions, 196-203; their objects, 203; hostile criticism of, 204-205; denounced by Washington, 205; debate on, in Congress, 205-207; defend themselves, 207-208; their significance and character, 208-209; influence in introducing French principles, 217.
Democracy, Jefferson on, 3; Morris on, 58-59, 86.
Directory, established, 134; ability of Directors, 134; farewell reception to Monroe, 136.
Discourses on Davila, see John Adams.
Duponceau, 177, 208.
Dupont, 268-269.
Dwight, 238, 239.

E

Echo, The, 238-241.
Economic conditions in France at time of Revolution: Jefferson on rural France, 10-20; Barlow on, 20; Jefferson on winter 1788-1789, 38-39; on France in summer of 1789, 49; Morris on, 67-68.
England and France, contrasted in American thought, 146-148, 291-293.
Equality, doctrine of, John Adams on, 153; criticised in America, 273-275.

F

Faction, dread of, in America, 275-277.
Federalists, 58, 120, 123 note, 204-205, 208, 214-215, 217, 219 note, 223, 248, 283, 291, 293-298.

Fourth of July orations, comments on Revolution, 243-246.
Foulon, Jefferson on murder of, 53.
France and America, closely connected in 18th century, 141-142.
Franklin, popularity in France, 1; did not foresee the Revolution, 2; predecessor of Jefferson, 4-5; French interest in, 141, 143; eulogies in France at death of, 148-150.
Freneau, 169, 213, 222-223.

G

Gallatin, 260-261.
Gardiner, J. S. J., 236, 237.
Genet, 105, 120; career in America, 173-186, 286, 295.
Giles, 205-206.
Gilman, 123.
Gironde, The, 104; policy portrayed by Morris, 105-106, 113; struggle with Jacobins, 115-116, 118; Genet their messenger to America, 174.

H

Hale, E. E., 1-2, 10.
Hamilton, 140, 152, 159, 163, 223, 234, 260, 266, 274.
Hancock, 246.
Hartford Wits, 238-241, 275.
Henry, Patrick, on Democratic Societies, 204; on execution of Louis XVI, 254; on irreligion of Revolution, 226.
Higginson, Col., 293.
Hodgkinson, 248.
Hopkins, 238.

I

Irreligion of French Revolution, 266-271.

J

Jackson, 143.
Jacobiniad, The, 236-237.
Jacobins, 110, 115, 116, 118.
Jay, 1, 2, 135, 143, 159, 163, 200, 202, 255, 266, 281.
Jefferson, 1; compared with Morris, 3-4; minister to France, 4; popularity in France, 5-6; general character of his criticisms, 6; opinions of monarchical governments, 6-8; compares French and Americans, 8-10; description of journey through France in 1787, 10-20; on condition of people in Italy, 15, 17 note; his descriptions compared with Young's, 18; on Assembly of Notables, 21-26; on good accomplished by, 23-24; on political incapacity of Frenchmen, 25, 36; description of events, 1787-1788, 26-33; on Brienne, 29; on reforms accomplished before Revolution, 30, 32-33; on States-General, 33-53; severity of winter, 38; size of States-General, 39; proposes compromise measures, 42-44: attitude toward parties in France, 50; autobiography, 51-52, 63; on Mirabeau, 67 note; on abolition of orders, 85; in Cabinet, 140, 141, 143; on discriminating tonnage duties, 147-148; on republication of Rights of Man, 157-160; on Neutrality Proclamation, 180; on Genet, 184-185; opposition to titles, 213; supports Freneau, 223; to Joel Barlow, 227; on execution of King, 258-259; on the violence of the Revolution, 261-262.

K

Kentucky, 195, 295 note.
Knox, 159, 223.

L

Lafayette, 6; letter from Jefferson, 19; in Notables, 22, 42, 43; conference at Jefferson's house, 50; Morris's attitude toward, 61, 110; presents key of Bastille to Washington, 148, 150; poems addressed to, 220-221, 251, 256; comments in America on his fate, 262-264.

Lafayette, Jr., 144 note, 265 note.
Lathrop, 244.
Lecointre de Versailles, 127.
Leveling principles in America, 209-219; opposition to titles, 209-216; to evidences of royalty, 216; streets rebaptized, 216-217; French terms in vogue, 217; enthusiasm in Philadelphia for everything French, 217-219.
Linn, Wm., 273 note.
Literature, American, as evidence, 219-243; poems on Revolution, 220-221; Freneau's contributions, 222-223; Barlow's writings, 224-234; writings of Hartford Wits, 235-241; of William Cobbett, 242-243; additional bibliography, 243 note.
Louis XVI, Jefferson on, 23, 28, 34, 35, 47, 51; part on May 5th, 72-74; Morris's comments on, 83-84; Louis' regard for Morris, 101; flight to Varennes, 101; impotence and rage of Gironde against, 105-106; reasons why condemned given by Morris, 116-117; description of execution, 117, 150; Louis popular in America, 172, 184, 220; comments in America on his execution, 253-262.
Louis Philippe, in America, 144 note.

M

McKean, 265.
Mackintosh, 220.
Maclay, Wm., 143-144, 146, 149.
Madison, on French Revolution and immigration, 144 note; on Neutrality Proclamation and Genet, 179; on Genet, 184, 222; on execution of Louis XVI, 259; debate in Congress on Madison's Resolutions, 279-280.
Marseillaise, sung in American theaters, 250.
Maurey, Abbé, Breck on, 79.
Merlin de Douai, speech at reception of Monroe, 121-122.
Metric system, proposed to America by revolutionary France, 281-282.
Mifflin, Gov., 184.
Mint and Coinage Debate in Congress, 151-152.
Mirabeau, Morris and Jefferson on, 66-67 note; on May 5th, 1789, 72; Breck on, 79 note.
Monarchy, Jefferson on, 6-8; Morris's opinion of, 56-57; return of monarchy in America feared, 145-146; "Forerunners of Monarchy," 209-210; evidences of attacked, 216; Barlow on, 228-229.
Monroe, criticism of Morris, 59; Monroe on French Revolution, 120-136; reception by Convention, 121-123; recalled, 123; publishes the "View," 123; his observations on Revolution compared with Jefferson's and Morris's, 124; on Robespierre's downfall, 124-125; on economic improvement of France, 126; on political situation in France and nature of pending controversies, 126-128; believes republic secure, 128; on violence of Revolution, 129; on famine in France, 130; on Constitution of '95, 131; criticises Decree of Two-thirds, 131; on the reaction, 132; on transition to Directory, 134; belief in permanence of the Constitution, 135; on victories of Bonaparte, 136; farewell to Directory, 136; criticises Jacobin Club, 208.
Morris, Gouverneur, 1; compared with Jefferson, 3-4; comments on French Revolution, 54-119; early surroundings, 54-55; opinions on government, 55-56; believes in monarchy for France, 56; attitude toward democracy, 58; criticisms on Morris in U. S. Senate, 59, 60 notes; how regarded in France, 61; personal feeling with reference to France and Revolution, 61-63; description of France in 1789, 64-72; on Necker, 65-66; on Mirabeau, 66-67 note; on economic conditions, 67-68; on moral condition, 68-69; on current political thought, 69-70; on French army, 71; on character of Constituent Assembly, 72-82; May 5th, 1789, 72-73; on parties and methods in Assembly, 76-77; on environment of Assembly, 80-81; France at end of 1790, 81; work of Constituent Assembly, 82-100; the French monarchy, 83; the King, 83-84; necessity of bicameral legislature, 85; of preserving nobility, 85-87; on confiscation of church property, 88; Morris drafts state paper for King, 90-98; on good accomplished by Constituent Assembly, 98-99; work of Legislative Assembly, 100-112; Morris's active part in politics, 101; his advice to the privileged orders, 102-103; causes of the war, 106-108; prophesies despotism, 110; on National Convention, 112-119; establishment of Republic, 113-114; condemnation of Louis XVI, 116-117; Reign of Terror, 118-119; succeeded by Monroe, 120; later references, 120, 152, 163, 274, 298.

Moultrie, Gov., 184.

N

National Gazette, on execution of Louis XVI, 256-257.
Naturalization, debate on, in Congress, 280-281.
Necker, 40, 41, 42, 65-66, 72, 78.
Neutrality, proclamation of, 178, 180, 198-200.
New York, celebrates Revolution, 164-165; receives Genet, 183; Democratic Society, 195, 200-201, 208, 213.
Noailles, Viscount de, 144 note, 184.
Nobility, the French, 75, 85-88, 107-108.
Notables, Assembly of, 21-26, 142.

O

Orleans, Duke of, 72.
Osgood, David, 272.

P

Paine, Robert Treat, on early Revolution, 142-143 note; poems on, 235-236; edits Federal Orrery, 236-237, 252, 275; later criticism, 297-298.
Paine, Thomas, Conway's Life of, 59, 63; publication of Rights of Man in America, 157-161, 209, 219 note, 220, 224, 233.
Parliaments, Jefferson on, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 33; American interest in, 142.
Parton, 1.
Pennsylvania, Constitutional Convention of, 145 note; Democratic Society of, 195, 216.
Phi Beta Kappa, denounced as aristocratic, 215.
Philadelphia, celebrations in, 169, 172-173; honors Genet, 175-183; Democratic Society, 195, 196.
Phillips, John, 244.
Plenary Court, Jefferson on, 30, 31, 32, 33.
Plymouth, celebration in, 170.
Portland, 195.
Prentiss, 236 note, 252.
Price, Dr., 152, 220.
Priest, 250.
Prigmore, 248.
Publicola, Essays of, 161-162, 253.
Pulpit, American and the French Revolution, 271-272.

Q

Queen, The, 28, 51-52, 72-73, 101, 258.

R

Randall, Life of Jefferson, 59.
Reign of Terror, Morris on, 118-119.

Religion, policy of Revolutionists, 229-230, 266-271; see also Irreligion.
Republic, French, 113-114, 164, 289, 294.
Republicans, American, 293-299.
Reveillon, 52.
Revolution, American, French interest in, 141; influence on French Revolution, 153.
Revolution, French, not foreseen by Franklin, Jay, Adams, 2; advantages seen by Morris, 98-99; not local, 139; hailed in America with joy, 140-141; used for partisan purposes here, 143-145; criticised here from outset, 152-153; causes for interest here, 288-299.
Revolutionary Tribunal, 118, 124, 125.
Richards, 244.
Rittenhouse, 177, 208.
Robespierre, 120, 124, 126, 129, 133, 219 note, 221, 238, 270.
Rochefoucauld-Liancourt, 144 note, 154; travels in America, 250-252; on Lafayette's popularity in America, 263-264, 291.
Rosenthal, 141.
Rousseau, 141, 273; influence in America, 246 note.

S

St. Just, 124.
Savannah, celebration in, 171.
Sedgwick, 207.
September massacres, 118-119, 129.
Sergeant, J. D., 177, 186, 208.
Sherman, criticises Morris, 60.
Short, 261.
Siéyès, letter to Congress, 149.
Simms, 299.
Smith, Jeremiah, on Democratic clubs, 205; on French principles, 276.
Smith, William, 245.
States-General, Jefferson on, 33-53; what they might attain, 35-36; Barlow on, 37; Jefferson on size of, 39; opening session, May 5th, 40-41, 72-73; sessions followed with interest in America, 145.
Sullivan, James, 208-209, 284.

T

Taine, 71, 106.
Talleyrand, 144 note, 155.
Tammany, celebration of, 165; an opera, 250.
Tessé, 70.
Theater, American, as evidence, 248-250.
Third Estate, 41, 42, 45-46.
Thornton, Wm., on a new language, 219 note.
Titles, debate on, in Congress, 143, 145; attacked in the press, 209-216; see also John Adams.
Toasts, in honor of French Revolution, 182-183, 186-187.
Tocqueville, 139, 289-290.
Todd, 227.
Tonnage, debate on, in Congress, 146-148.
Tracy, on Democratic clubs, 206.
Travelers, comments of, 250-252.
Trumbull, John, 79 note, 295 note.
Tyler, Royal, 222 note.

V

Valmy, 109.
Vendemiaire 13th, Monroe on, 131.
Vermont, Democratic clubs in, 195.

W

Wansey, 250.
Washington, letter from Morris, 61, 123, 141, 143 note; receives key of Bastille, 148, 150, 152, 157; on Democratic clubs, 205, 213, 234; on execution of Louis XVI, 255; on Lafayette's imprisonment, 264, 284, 287.
Watson, John, enthusiasm in Philadelphia for France, 217-219.
Webster, Noah, 216, 220, 221,

224; on irreligion of Revolution, 267-269; on faction, 275; on attention of Revolution to trifles, 277-278.
Whiskey Insurrection, 205.
Wirt, Wm., 67, 299.
Wolcotts, the, 144; on Democratic clubs, 204; on execution of Louis XVI, 254; on faction, 276-277, 282.
Wordsworth, 220.
Wythe County, Democratic Society of, 201-203.

Y

Young, Arthur, journey through France, 10, 16; compared with Jefferson, 18; see also 76, 98.